Official Press Kit — Music You Feel in Silence

Artist Biography

My journey into music began when I was ten years old, when my mother brought me to a music school. There I started studying accordion, piano, and string instruments. Like many children, music was not yet my main passion — I was fascinated by sports, electronics, and computers. Over time, after receiving professional musical education, music became my emotional language. I started writing my own compositions, experimenting with sounds, textures, and atmospheres. Eventually I realized that creativity should not remain private. Music is meant to be shared. That realization led to my first releases and songs written for different artists and projects. My artistic name SEV NOIR carries a personal meaning. SEV comes from the initials of my name and surname. NOIR represents the night — the time when inspiration comes most naturally and creativity flows freely.

Artistic Vision

The creative vision of SEV NOIR is built around one simple idea: music should be felt before it is understood. The project explores emotional depth, sensual atmospheres, and cinematic soundscapes that invite listeners into a world of reflection, romance, and quiet intensity. Each composition is designed as an atmosphere rather than simply a structure—a sonic environment where listeners can slow down and reconnect with their emotions.

Musical Style

The sound of SEV NOIR blends cinematic ambience, sensual lounge, and deep electronic atmospheres. Warm harmonies, subtle rhythms, and immersive textures create a refined sonic world often described as: • sensual • cinematic • atmospheric • elegant • deeply emotional

Philosophy

Music you feel in silence. For SEV NOIR, silence is an essential part of music. The spaces between sounds allow emotion to breathe. The project explores the delicate balance between sound and silence, light and shadow, romance and melancholy.
